

2010 PERFORMANCE HIGHLIGHTS

Organ Recital with Bruce P. Bengtson

Sunday, September 12, 4:00 pm, Christ Episcopal Church

The program features personal favorites from French, German and American literature. The selections are designed to highlight the beauty and magnificence of the music and to display the tonal richness of the three-manual 63-rank pipe organ of Christ Church.

Theatre: The Habit of Looking

September 17, 7:30 pm, Christ Episcopal Church

September 18, 2:00 pm & 7:30 pm, Christ Episcopal Church

Conceived and directed by Susan Wagner

An evening of art comes alive with music, literature and dance. Delight in the works of those such as Cézanne and Degas, T.S. Eliot and Mark Twain, George Gershwin and Aaron Copland, as well as many others, some familiar, some perhaps not. There is no surer method of linking oneself to the world than by art.

Edgar Degas, Woman Ironing, c. 1882-86, oil on canvas, 27.5 x 27.75 in. (69.9 x 70.5 cm), Reading Public Museum, Pennsylvania, Gift of the Martha Elizabeth Dick Estate. Image courtesy Reading Public Museum

Exploring God's Presence

Sunday, September 19, 4:00 pm, Trinity Lutheran Church

Created and directed by David Himes

A choral celebration with hymns, anthems and hymn settings featuring singers from churches and choruses around Berks County.

The 26th Annual

Fall Festival OF THE ARTS

September 10-19, 2010

www.fallfestivalofthearts.org

presented by

Christ Episcopal Church
Trinity Lutheran Church
Reading, Pennsylvania

Mission Statement

Trinity Lutheran and Christ Episcopal, two historic churches in the Callowhill district of Reading, are known for their exquisite architecture, wonderful acoustics, and magnificent organs. As one expression of their covenant relationship, they are pleased to present the 26th annual Fall Festival of the Arts for the enjoyment and enrichment of the City of Reading and its surrounding communities. This festival, featuring art, music, and theatre, is offered in celebration and thanksgiving for the many God-given gifts and talents we experience, enjoy, and share.
